PROJECTS
ClinicalINERSystem- AIML Aug 2023 - Present The implementation of an Electronic Health Record (EHR) system augmented by a Clinical Named Entity Recognition (CNER) system marks a significant milestone in healthcare information management. This project showcases the seamless integration of advanced natural language processing techniques into the EHRframework, facilitating the automated extraction of clinically relevant entities from unstructured medical text. By bridging the gap between textual information and structured patient records, the project contributes to enhanced patient care, efficient data management, and evidence-based medical practices.
